

ABSTRACT

A special set of normal meshes is defined where errors and residuals will also be along a direction that minimizes the error in coding. These normal meshes can be used to model a three dimensional surface.

10039154.doc